

MATRIX ON POINT: IPCC REPORT

November 18, 2019, 12:30pm-12pm

A recent report by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) paints a dire picture about the state of our planet's ecological health, and calls for "timely, ambitious and coordinated action to address unprecedented and enduring changes in the ocean and cryosphere." Please join us on Monday, November 18 for a discussion about the IPCC report, featuring four scholars:

- Daniel M. Kammen, Professor of Energy and Director of the Center for Environmental Policy
- James Bishop, Professor of Earth and Planetary Science
- Kathryn De Master, Assistant Professor, Department of Environmental Science, Policy, and Management
- Alexander Arroyo, PhD student in Geography
